My experience at RCG 2019 could not have been better. The grant I received immensely facilitated my attendance and my participation in the Training School afterwards. The presentations I attended were of great quality, especially the keynotes. I enjoyed and learned new skills during the training program at Harokopio University and in the Hellenic Center for Marine Research. Professor Efthymios Karympalis was a great host and coordinator. The field trips he organized with his team were the highlight of 2019 for me. I am grateful for the opportunity and will surely look forward to new opportunities to attend future IAG meetings.
